Château de Laubade was founded in 1870 in the heart of Gascony, the original home of distillation in France, and has been owned by the Lesgourgues family since 1974. The vineyards, occupying 105 hectares, are situated in the top growth Bas Armagnac region; Ugni Blanc, Baco, Colombard and Folle Blanche are cultivated using organic methods, then vinified and distilled at the Château.

Tasting Notes: Look for a dark amber hue and a deep caramel aroma from this brandy. On the palate, fleeting sweetness gives way to a long finish, offering flavours of oak, cocoa, caramel, clove and cinnamon. Some might compare this Armagnac to good Bourbon.

Awards: Ultimate Beverage Challenge Spirit Competition 2016
Chairman's Trophy, Wine Enthusiast 2012 - 93 points
San Francisco World Spirits Competition 2012 - Double Gold.
