Kirsteen Campbell, the Macallan Master Whisky Maker, presents a stunning single malt whisky that has carefully matured over five amazing decades under the watchful eye of generations of whisky makers until it has reached this precise moment of maturation. The 'new make' spirit from The Macallan's small copper stills was aged for fifty years in hand-picked wood casks.

The bottle is displayed in a beautifully crafted oak presentation box is handcrafted in the United Kingdom from the same sustainable European oak as Macallan's casks. Bridge of Weir Leather, have wonderfully upholstered the box with responsibly sourced, soft Scottish leather.
