Representing the pinnacle in quality of Tequila. The foundation of Komos XO is elemental: handmade, double pot-distilled tequila. The agave is hand-harvested from both the Highlands and Lowlands of Jalisco to increase the complexity of the blanco tequila base. Through an exacting and complex aging process, it is then matured in American oak bourbon barrels and French oak red and white wine barrels. Throughout this process, only the very best barrels are selected. Each barrel is completely unique, and individually assessed over time, with the youngest barrels aging for a minimum of three years and the oldest aging for up to 11 years. At the exact right moment, the tequila is taken out of the barrels and transferred to Spanish Oloroso Sherry casks. These casks are specifically selected to highlight the beauty created thus far while also building upon it further, thereby creating deeper flavour and refinement. The result is a varied and beautiful tapestry that only the finest craftsmanship can achieve. The result of this meticulous approach is a tequila that has taken on a symphony of complexity, beauty, and most importantly, a patina that only time can provide. The Japanese have a term Shibui which embodies the essence of this masterful blend: it's about being balanced, nuanced, subtle, not obvious, deep, detailed and, ultimately, very compelling. Komos XO is contained in an etched crystal decanter. This is the first time Komos is presenting an expression in a clear bottle to showcase the richness of the liquid, yet maintaining the iconic Komos shape. Komos XO is a true single batch: blended only once, never again to be replicated. It is bottled at a cask strength of 42% ABV, capturing flavours and textures from the barrels and aged agaves that are more vivid, vibrant and complex. Komos will release a new edition of XO when the next barrels have reached their peak maturity to create the ultimate, unique blend. Each bottle is marked as Batch no making it a perfect selection for any collector.
