Made with six carefully chosen botanicals, adnams copper house dry gin is elegant and approachable, classically charged with juniper, rich with floral and citrus notes. It's a warm and welcoming adnams gin. Aromatic gin is bursting with juniper, fresh lemon and orange notes as well as warming hints of anise.

Adnams from grain to glass, copper house gin is distilled from east anglian malted barley at their artisan distillery in southwold. The copper pot stills are handmade and create a wonderfully flavoursome spirit. This smooth, rich spirit is then redistilled with six carefully chosen botanicals to impart their distinctive aromas and flavours.
