Vincent Cuillier is a small grower Champagne producer based in Montagne de Reims. Alongside overseeing the winemaking for the family business, back in 2015 Vincent isolated the oldest plots and started working the vines for his own label. His viticulture is based on rigorous plot selection and a deep commitment to organic and biodynamic farming. Most his vineyards are located around Saint-Thierry Massif, a sandy soiled area to the northwest of Reims. The vines are replaced using selection massale. He promotes soil health by using full cover crops in spring, low-no tillage, and homemade compost and plant preparations. Vincent employs very low intervention winemaking with limited or no sulphur used, a range of different sized oak barrels and round concrete vats. This is a truly expressive, highly complex and very terroir-focused range of Champagnes, with a high percentage of barrique fermentation, mostly consisting of wines mostly from single vineyards and single vintage releases. These are superbly characterful wines from an exciting, talented young winemaker.
